SALOON KEEPER WINS IN KNOWLES CASE

Roswell, N. M., March 21.—A number of decisions handed down during the week Judge G. A. Knowles has determined the Knowles saloon case, which has attracted much attention in the valley, in favor of the defendant, owner of the saloon at Roswell. The case was that of the state vs. W. J. Woerner.

In his opinion, the court gives judgment for the defendant, holding that the matters complained of may be properly handled through criminal prosecutions, or rather that the case is such that a court of equity cannot be required to until after the criminal law has been found insufficient.

In this suit the district attorney in behalf of the state sought to restrain Woerner from maintaining and operating a saloon at Roswell for the reason that his place has been alleged to be disorderly and that there is now not a population of 100 people within the confines of the town. The claim that the population has dropped below 100 persons since the license was issued, the court holds, is not sufficient under the law to bring about a forfeiture of the license and, as stated, the other matters may be properly handled through criminal prosecution.

MAY BE POSSIBLE TO EXTEND SCHOOL TERM TO SEVEN MONTHS

Rural Schools of the State Rapidly Complying with Five Months Requirement Provision.

ONLY ONE-THIRD OF STATE AID FUND USED

Of $60,000 a Year Provided by Legislature to Assist Country Schools Only $19,000 has Been Asked for.

Information given to The Herald by state Superintendent of Education Arvin N. White in Albuquerque last week, indicates that the state legislature soon may be able to increase the present required term of five months for the country schools to seven months and remain within the resources of the poorer districts. When the five months' requirement was written into the educational statutes, it was thought that there would be many county school districts which could not comply with it, in the providing of buildings and in paying teachers. To aid the poorer districts a state aid fund of $60,000 a year was provided; it being stipulated that this fund could be called upon by any district which could not provide itself with a building, or carry on five months of school, without assistance. The state, for such districts, may give one-third or two-thirds contributed by the districts, either for buildings or payment of teachers.

It is now shown by the books of the department that less than one-third—$19,087.80 of the $60,000 appropriation for the present school year has been applied for, the applications having been as follows by counties:

In 1913-1914: Chavez $375; Guadalupe $2,524.69; Curry $1,340.66; Lincoln $131.82; Mori, $657.63; Otero $97.35; Rio Arriba $93.22; San Juan $94.85; Roosevelt $2,912.44; Sandoval $642.12; Santa Fe $2,775; Taos $745; Torrance $2,546; Union $2,725.

At this rate it is thought the required school term easily could be increased to seven months and still keep within the $60,000 a year now available. This is the opinion of State Superintendent White who has been keenly interested in the administration of this fund.

"We have been able to give material help where most needed," said the superintendent, in discussing the matter last week, "and especially in the eastern part of the state the provision which permits the people of the school district to contribute their share of a building in labor has been taken advantage of."

We have sets of school plans in our office, which are free to the districts. We insist on the uno-lateral lighting system and other modern details of construction, even in the smallest schools and having supervision, we have been able to get some very excellent school buildings.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull mass in the kidney region, sharp pain, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the chancris get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lime, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE TUBERCULOSIS--NAIL IN LUNG

Silver City Physicians Report Remarkable Case Brought to Light by Use of the X-ray.

The Silver City Enterprise of Saturday has the following:

One of the rarest cases of a foreign body lodging in the lungs on record in medical annals is reported by Drs. Bullock and Twitchell from the New Mexico Cottage sanatorium of this city, when examining a patient for supposed tuberculosis last week, an X-ray photograph of the lungs was taken and revealed a six penny nail lodged in the middle of the right lung, as shown in the picture. An excellent photograph accompanies the article in the Enterprise, showing the nail embedded in the lung, which is a half-tone reproduction of the actual photograph. The patient's name is W. P. Stanley and he hails from Sedalia, Mo., where his father is engaged in the newspaper business. He is thirty-three years of age and a civil engineer by trade.

The story of his lung trouble dates back two years, when one day in April he was sitting in a transom to a screen door. He had a nail in his mouth with point out, ready for use, after the custom of carpenters. The transom being higher than his head, he was looking straight up when the chair on which he was standing tilted, or his foot slipped. At any rate the fall caused a quick intake of the breath, and in doing so he sucked the nail into his windpipe. The nail gaged him for a second or two and then slipped down as easy as an oyster. For several days after that Mr. Stanley says when he exhaled it seemed as if he could taste iron. He went to his physician immediately and told him of the incident and that the nail felt as if it had gone down his windpipe. He was told by his physician that it was impossible for such an object to enter the lung. Several days later he requested a more searching examination and an X-ray picture of the abdomen was taken. There was no evidence of the nail and Stanley was told he must have "dreamed of it."

For two years he has coughed and had bloody and brownish expectoration and a few small hemorrhages following violent exercise. Four weeks ago Stanley underwent an examination in the east; tuberculosis was suspected and he was sent to the Cottage sanatorium at Silver City for treatment. He told his story of the nail incident to Drs. Bullock and Twitchell of the medical staff and they immediately took an X-ray photograph of the lungs with the above result. Stanley's case has baffled a number of celebrated lung specialists in the east and it remained for Drs. Bullock and Twitchell to discover the cause of his trouble—a six penny nail.

Now the question that is troubling the doctors and Mr. Stanley is how to extract the nail without injury to the lung tissue. It is quite likely he will be sent to Dr. Fletcher Ingalls, the celebrated surgeon in bronchotomy in Chicago who has invented an instrument for inserting in the bronchial tubes for the extraction of foreign objects and has met with wonderful success.

FIREMAN BADLY HURT ENGINES WRECKED IN RATON YARDS

Raton, N. M., March 21.—A head-on collision in the local yards about 4 o'clock yesterday morning between engine 1254 and the yard night switch engine resulted in the serious injury of Fireman Rino and a slight injury to Engineer Ben Hornish, of the switch engine. The former was taken immediately to the company hospital at La Junta. He was severely crushed about the hips.

The circumstances attending the accident were most peculiar, and such as to place responsibility for the smash-up on no particular individual. Engine 1254, which had brought in No. 3 from La Junta, had been left at the ash pit near the coal chute in the roundhouse yard by Engineer Broughton. While the hustler was getting ready to run the engine down to the roundhouse, some mechanical defect caused the opening of the reverse throttle, putting the engine under header head in spite of efforts made to shut off the steam and causing it to crash into the switch engine with ruinous results.

Advertising for bids will quickly follow and the new building probably placed under construction before the end of April.
